

Skagit River Resort at Bullerville presents a

House Concert

Stacey Board

Life has taken Stacey from her roots in the south to Southern California and now Utah), a state that has taken her to heart and for three consecutive years voted her "Best Folk/Acoustic" in the Salt Lake City Weekly's Reader's Poll. She continues to tour and perform almost nonstop across the west.

In August 2006 Stacey released her latest studio recording, Look To The Sun. It has Stacey poised on the brink of a much greater audience and much greater exposure.

Its not often that we are given a lift out of our lives, and know the range of our own emotions more fully by glimpsing the heights and depths of someone else's. Stacey Board's performance both on stage and on her recordings gives us that chance. Her poetic lyrics, clever chord progressions, and soulful vocals are unique in this world, and should not be missed.

"This time, it's about flowers, and again, she's brilliant in the way she covers every detail. Not only do the lyrics make references to blooming and wilting and drinking in the sunlight, but the tempo of each song is patient and laid-back, like a flower taking its sweet time to open. Her voice is less conversational and more crooning, lilting, in harmony with nature. Hearing her pure country/folkie/earthy voice with its twangy spunk on this CD feels like lying in the warm grass on a spring day, basking in the sun.

"The songs are soulful reflections of love and loss without any trace of melodrama, not even in the opener "Cry Cry Cry." That one's just a down-to-earth description of a woman having to let it all out every once in a while."
